Faces of the Foundation

This month we honor Chris Brettingen, past board president.

Chris is a familiar face at To Celebrate Life. Her path as a volunteer started on the Stepping Out runway in 2003...and led all the way to president of the Board of Directors. For the last six years Chris has worked with the model committee, spearheading the fashion team that selects outfits and arranges fittings for the Stepping Out models. In 2008, Chris was invited to join the board. "I was blessed to get my wish which was to be part of the grants committee," she says. In this role she has learned so much about breast cancer and the challenges faced by various ethnic communities in the diagnosis and treatment of the disease.

A 20-year breast cancer survivor, Chris chose not to talk about her diagnosis at first as she didn't want to be defined by it. "However, once I found this group, I became engaged as a breast cancer survivor and I'm proud of it," she says.

Since turning over the reins of the board presidency to her successor Jane Pallas last month, Chris has been busy co-chairing Rally for Health and Hope. And, she continues to dedicate her time and talents as a board member. "I am so fortunate to work with the board and our volunteers in carrying out our mission," says Chris.

The Ceres Community Project provides 25,000 appealing, delicious and nourishing meals each year to individuals and families living with a life-threatening illness such as cancer. The program's chefs are teenagers from more than 18 local high schools in Sonoma and Marin. They gain culinary and leadership skills, and the inspiration to make cooking and eating healthy foods a part of their life.

Guests at our April 4th Grants Reception were treated to delicious organic hors d'oeuvres prepared and served by the Ceres teen chefs based on recipes from their cookbook Nourishing Connections: The Healing Power of Food and Community
